Over the weekend I decided to upgrade my AT&T 8525 smartphone for the new-new model, the HTC "Fuze" (the one in-between was the Tilt, so I skipped a generation). I looked around YouTube and there weren't a lot of reviews out, so I went ahead and put two of them together. The first one is just a simple overview of the device; the second one focuses on three of my favorite features: GPS, FM Radio, and Windows Remote Desktop. Check them out, they're already pretty popular on YouTube!
